Single Point Registration Scheme (NSIC SPRS)

NSIC enlists micro and small enterprises under SPRS so they get tender benefits in government purchases.

What you may get

A registered micro or small enterprise gets tender sets free of cost, exemption from earnest money deposit, a chance to supply up to 25 per cent of a requirement at the lowest price when it quotes within L1 plus 15 per cent, and consortia facility for tender marketing. SC and ST enterprises pay a nominal registration fee, and North Eastern units get a 20 per cent fee concession.

Who it is for

Micro and small enterprises in manufacturing or services that have Udyam Registration; traders are not eligible.

Main conditions

- All micro and small enterprises with Udyam Registration can register; traders are not eligible.
- Start-ups that began production but have not completed one year can get provisional registration with a monetary limit of Rs 5 lakh.
- The certificate is valid for 2 years and renewal can be applied 6 months before expiry, with 50 per cent off the renewal fee if done before expiry.

Documents

- Udyam Registration Number
- Forms, annexures and documents listed in the NSIC checklist
- Latest audited balance sheet for the monetary limit

How to apply

1. Get your Udyam Registration Number from the Udyam Registration website.
2. Apply online for fresh registration or renewal on the NSIC SPRS portal and fill each step.
3. Pay the fee based on your unit category, choose a third-party inspection agency where inspection is needed, and download the final certificate online.
