Tool Kit Scheme (Punjab BOCW Board)

The Punjab construction workers' welfare board repays up to Rs 5,000 for tools bought by a registered worker who has finished the Board's skill training.

What you may get

Up to Rs 5,000 as repayment for buying tools of the worker's trade. A worker can claim again after every three years of membership. The money is repaid after the tools are bought.

Who it is for

Registered construction workers who got training under the Board's Skill Upgradation scheme or its Recognition of Prior Learning scheme.

Main conditions

- The worker must be registered as a beneficiary of the Board and must be paying the contribution regularly.
- The worker must have got training under the Board's Skill Upgradation or RPL scheme, and the proof is uploaded on the portal.
- The money is repaid only after the tools have been bought, so the bills have to be shown.
- A worker can take this benefit once in every three years.

Documents

- Proof of training under the Skill Upgradation or RPL scheme
- Copies of the bills for tools bought for the worker's trade

How to apply

1. Register with the Board first. A worker aged 18 to 60 who did construction work in Punjab for at least 90 days in the last 12 months fills Application form No 28 and pays the registration fee.
2. Buy the tools, then apply through the Board's web portal or the nearest Sewa Kendra, uploading the training proof and the bills.
3. A committee at sub-division level checks the application and the Deputy Commissioner approves it. The Board then sends the money to the worker's bank account.
