Laado Protsahan Yojana

A Rajasthan government scheme that gives a total of Rs 1,50,000 in seven parts to a girl born in a government or approved hospital, starting at her birth and ending after she finishes graduation.

What you may get

At birth the family gets a promise letter (sankalp patra) for Rs 1,50,000, paid in 7 instalments by DBT: Rs 2,500 at birth in an eligible hospital, Rs 2,500 after all vaccines due up to 9 to 12 months, Rs 4,000 on joining Class 1, Rs 5,000 on joining Class 6, Rs 11,000 on joining Class 10, Rs 25,000 on joining Class 12 and Rs 1,00,000 after passing graduation and turning 21.

Who it is for

Girls born from 1 August 2024 onwards in a government hospital or a JSY-approved private hospital, whose mother lives in Rajasthan.

Main conditions

- The mother must live in Rajasthan and must have both an Aadhaar card and a Jan Aadhaar card.
- The girl must be born in a government hospital, or in a private hospital approved under Janani Suraksha Yojana (JSY).
- For the second instalment, every vaccine due up to 9 to 12 months of age must be done. A certificate that the girl is alive at one year is no longer asked for.
- School instalments are paid on admission in a government school or a private school recognised by the state. The last instalment needs graduation from a recognised institution and age 21.
- There is no limit on the number of children for the third and later instalments.
- If the delivery took place outside Rajasthan, a mother living in Rajasthan who got JSY benefit and has Aadhaar and Jan Aadhaar can claim the first instalment from the government hospital of her area.

Documents

- Aadhaar card and Jan Aadhaar card of the mother
- Bank account details
- Mother and child health card (Mamta card) as proof of vaccination

How to apply

1. During pregnancy check-ups (ANC), give your Aadhaar, Jan Aadhaar and bank details to the health staff, who enter them on the PCTS portal.
2. Have the delivery in a government hospital or a JSY-approved private hospital. The baby girl gets a PCTS ID at birth and the first instalment goes to the mother's bank account, or to the father or guardian if the mother is not alive.
3. No separate form is needed for the first two instalments. The second one is paid once the vaccination record from the Mamta card is updated on the PCTS portal.
4. For the later instalments, the school records the girl on the Shala Darpan or private school portal using her PCTS ID, member ID, APAAR ID or Jan Aadhaar. The Education Department pays by DBT, and the Higher Education Department pays the last instalment.
5. The sankalp patra can be seen in digital form on the OJAS portal.
